7. LOCALISM BILL: REAL PLANNING POWERS HANDED TO TOWNS AND PARISHES.

The Localism Bill represents the most radical shift in power since Town and Country Planning started in 1947. It is long and complex but it includes four powers that will fundamentally change the role of local councils who will have the opportunity to play a core role in the planning system, not just as a consultee but as a plan maker and decision taker on planning matters.

1. Neighbourhood Plans

Local Councils will have the right to produce Neighbourhood Plans which will shape development at local level. They should follow current plans but the detail of what is planned for the future of a community will now be determined by the local council, including housing location, what infrastructure is needed and what development is generally not permissible.

2. Neighbourhood Development Orders

Any Local Council which produces a Neighbourhood Plan will also be able to make a Neighbourhood Development Order which would automatically grant planning permission for specific development or classes of development.

3. Duty of developers to consult local communities on major planning applications.

Prospective developers will be required to consult local communities for certain larger developments before plans have been produced and they will have to show that they have done so. Failure to reflect local wishes could result in refusal of consent.

4. Local referendum on key issues

A local referendum can be held on any matter the community wishes, following which the local authority must consider the steps it proposes to take and publish its decision and reasons.

A firm of Town Planning Consultants, Navigus Planning, will be publishing a Journal of Local Planning for local councils and will provide quarterly advice and information for an annual subscription of £50. The Committee may wish to request the Council to authorise this expenditure as it is important to be well informed. However, the National Association of Local Councils has issued a briefing on the whole Bill which does not just relate to Planning matters and the Association may also give specific advice on the new legislation.

8. PLANNING CONSULTATIONS WITH LOCAL COUNCILS

Following a report to the December 2010 meeting to the effect that more IWC consultations will be undertaken on line but the current procedure on planning applications will remain unchanged, a letter has now been received to say that the press list, delegated decisions and copies of decision notices will be emailed to local councils.

However, they will cease to copy planning applications and materials for local councils from 14th January but make a copy available to collect from the Seaclose Offices for return after the meeting. The Committee will remember that the Chairman sent a strong letter of complaint against this proposal and a copy to the IW Association of Local Councils.

9. TRANSPORT PLAN

At its meeting on 11th January the Committee agreed to defer consideration of this consultation document until this meeting, comments being required by 4th February. Minute 9/11(5) of the minutes attached to this agenda refers.

Details can be found on the IW Council website at

10. STATEMENT OF LICENSING POLICY

The Licensing Authority has to prepare and publish a statement of its Licensing Policy every three years and must consult locally, the current period running from 18th January to 14th February. The statement is available at the Library, County Hall and Jubilee Stores at Newport Quay. It can be viewed online at
